General Clean-up To Complete Campaign Here

Hazard's clean-up, paint-up and fix-up campaign, enters its final week Sunday on a "successful note," City Manager Hobert Wooten announced today.

The drive, in progress the past three weeks, has seen Wooten noted several "sore spots" within our community cleaned-up.

Wednesday thru Friday, Professional Women's club for Wooten said, city crews will their roles in the campaign. The two clubs spear-headed the drive here by soliciting women to monitor the clean-up campaigns in their neighborhoods. The "street captains," as they are called, have gone from door-to-door, asking property owners to help in the drive.

The B.P.W.C. also purchased He complimented members of and obtained sponsors for the Perry County Garden Club wire trash baskets that were and the Hazard Business and placed throughout the city.

Clean-Up Schedule, May 4-9

The following clean-up schedule and street captains were announced this week by City Manager Hobert Wooten. Property owners are requested to have trash, debris, junk and litter on the curb.

Monday, May 5—LIBERTY STREET, Mrs. Brit Handy and Mrs. Karl Walker; EAST MAIN ST. Mrs. J. O. Harper; MAPLE STREET, Mrs. Zona Whitely and Mrs. Howard Johnson; CHESTER STREET, Mrs. Hal Cooner and Mrs. Sam Garnett.

Tuesday, May 6—Woodland Park, Mrs. M. B. Payne and Mrs. L. H. Wagers.

Wednesday thru Friday, May 7-9—General pick-up through out the city. If you have litter to be hauled off, please phone city hall. Pick-ups will be made on one of these three days, City Manager Hobert Wooten has announced.

Judge Proclaims May 11-17 Hospital Week

County Judge J. A. Smith this week proclaimed May 11-17 as National Hospital Week in Perry County.

In his proclamation, Judge Smith noted:

WHEREAS our hospitals are providing an ever higher standard of care to an ever increasing number of patients; and

WHEREAS our hospitals are able to maintain the high standard of care only because a constant supply of personnel is available to them; and

WHEREAS the constant supply of personnel is assured only through the county's continuous support and understanding of the vital role played by hospitals,

BE IT RESOLVED that this county salutes its hospitals and their staffs in recognition of National Hospital Week, May 11-17, and calls attention to the opportunity for hospital careers that will benefit both the individual and the county.

Jeff Soldier Completes Basic

The Brothers Colwell

An honor student at Sue Bennett College, London, is Kenneth Colwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Colwell, of Kodak. His brother, right, A/3c Clayton Colwell is now stationed at Barford Air Force Base, England, training for electrical power production. Both boys are graduates of Dilce Combs Memorial High School.

Public Housing—Topic For Church Women

"A Place to Live" will be the topic of Mrs. Dana Snyder at a meeting of the church women of Hazard, Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock in the St. Marks Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Snyder's will discuss "low-rent, public housing" and its role in community improvement. All church women are urged to attend this meeting.

Store Hours

The question of "night store hours" will be discussed during a meeting of the Hazard Better Businessmen's Association, Friday at 2 p.m. in City Hall, George Roach, president, announced this week.

All paid members of the association are requested to attend, Roach said.

Mrs. Copeland Writes Score For Troopers

The musical score for "Club '58," the annual Spring show of the University of Kentucky Troopers has been written by a resident of Hazard, Mrs. Grace Copeland, and her son, David.

Mrs. Copeland departed here yesterday to complete final arrangements for the show, scheduled for tomorrow and Saturday nights at the University.

David, his brother, Fred Copeland, and Elizabeth Eblan, all of here, will perform in the variety show.

The U.K. Troopers are an organization of talented students who present musical variety acts, comedy routines and skits. Their Lexington show comes once a year.

The organization sometimes takes to the road for other appearances throughout the State.

Dawahare To Join Cincinnati Firm

A. F. Dawahare, associate in Dawahare's, Inc., of Hazard, will join the John Shillite Co., of Cincinnati, this month as an executive trainee.

A graduate of Harvard, Dawahare joined the Dawahare store here in 1956.

He is a member of the Hazard Jaycees and the Hazard Rotary Club.

Report On Flood Claim Awaits C.D.

Perry County Judge J. A. Smith said this morning a full report on the county flood claim will be announced in the near future—just as soon as copies are received here of records held by the Office of Civil Defense.

Judge Smith, County Attorney C. A. Noble, County Court Clerk Jessie Horn and Representative Chester Duff were in Frankfort yesterday to confer with State officials on Perry County's claim.

Two Scholarships Available Here

Two $250 scholarships are available here for high school senior girls, Miss Leyburn Cody, president, Hazard Business and Professional Women's Club, announced today.

The scholarships are given annually by the club.

Eligible are two senior girls from any of the following high schools: Leatherwood, Buckhorn, M. C. Napier, Dilce Combs and Hazard.

Applications in letter form should be addressed to Miss Cody, 702 Eversole Street, Hazard, and be postmarked not later than May 8.

Applicants must meet the following standards: be in the upper quarter of their class; of good character; want to go to college; need the financial aid of the scholarship.

When applying by letter, applicants are requested to state their reasons for desiring a college education.

The money was spent during the administration of County Judge J. H. Banks, immediately following the Jan. 28 flood last year.

Perry County is the only governmental unit in Eastern Kentucky which has not been reimbursed for money spent following the flood on disaster work.

Perry's claim became the object of a federal investigation

The county has a flood disaster claim amounting to $91,894.33 on file with the office of Civil Defense. Civil Defense officials, however, only recently offered $23,660.75 as final settlement.

Judge Smith said this morning that records were examined yesterday during the conference. He added that the Office of Civil Defense is to mail him photostatic copies of the records within the next few days.

When these arrive, Judge Smith continued, a full report will be made, explaining why the county claims one figure and the Office of Civil Defense another.

He indicated today that there is apparently some difference in what was authorized by the Office of Civil Defense to be spent here for post-flood clean-up and road work, and what the county actually spent.

The money was spent during the administration of County Judge J. H. Banks, immediately following the Jan. 28 flood last year.

Perry County is the only governmental unit in Eastern Kentucky which has not been reimbursed for money spent following the flood on disaster work.

Perry's claim became the object of a federal investigation

last summer when Senator John Sherman Cooper announced from Washington that the Office of Civil Defense was looking into work done here.

The present disagreement between the county and the Office of Civil Defense reportedly is an outgrowth of the investigation.

At the last meeting of the Perry Fiscal Court, Judge Smith revealed that the Office of Civil Defense had offered the county $68,000 less than what the county is claiming.

He noted that he had rejected the offer in a letter to civil defense officials.

Yesterday's meeting was to take up the points of difference between the county and Civil Defense.

Hinging on the funds are two loans against the county, made by banks in Lexington and Jackson. The county owes the banks over $47,000, borrowed to pay for flood clean-up and road work. The county also owes over $19,000 in back debts, and is behind in the payment of salaries to some county officials.

Board To Meet

The County Board of Supervisors will meet May 12, Roy H. Johnson, county tax commissioner, announced today.

New State Vice President

New State Vice President of the Kentucky Junior Chamber of Commerce is "Ike" Ritchie, Hazard coal operator. Ritchie was elected to the office at the annual Kentucky Jaycee convention held in Cincinnati last week.

Rose Talks Before Youth Assembly

The following talk was presented before the Youth Assembly last week by "Senator" Ben Rose. H.H.S. students participated in the work of the Assembly.

I am Benny Rose of Hazard High. Mr. Cory, of course, has just told you that.

It has been very interesting to me to listen to the various candidates for this office of Secretary of State, for which I am also a candidate, and to learn of their qualifications. Of course, it goes without saying, that all of us attending this Youth Assembly are boys and girls, not only of outstanding abilities, but also considered to be of good moral character. For we are a few of the best, picked from many, to represent our respective schools.

NOW, offices such as we seek, are offices which govern the everyday affairs of millions. Men (and this term as we use it includes women) of high character, reputation and ability are needed.

HOWEVER, these attributes are not sufficient within themselves. The man who seeks public office must necessarily be one who is able to persuade people to vote for him. Otherwise, he cannot be elected. THEREFORE, in addition to good character, reputation and ability—the candidate for public office must be a man who can influence people.

I AM, I FEEL, SUCH A MAN.

NOW, once in office, what then? Too many times one term is all an elected official can gain. People who supported him the first time turn against him. WHY? Simply because he cannot hold their trust and confidence. I feel, that once elected I would, if I so desired and unless forbidden by law, be able to gain office again. Not that I would necessarily want to retain the office but my supporters would know that I was trustworthy and would again support me.

The candidates here have advanced some wonderful plans which would, if put into successful operation, be of worthy benefit to our wonderful State of Kentucky. I heartily approve of the plans. A MAN WITH A PLAN is off to a good start but it is only the BEGINNING. To put a plan to work and succeed in making it work, especially when it affects a large number of people such as the plans of public officials do, it is necessary to gain support of the plan. That is, YOU must sell the people on your plan or idea. That requires ability.

I BELIEVE I HAVE SALES ABILITY.

The school from which I come, Hazard High, has an outstanding record in producing winning basketball teams. In fact, Hazard is known as the basketball Capital of Eastern Kentucky. WHO, for instance, has not heard of JOHNNY COX? He is as well known in basketball circles as ELVIS PRESLEY is known to the entertainment world, (and right now to his Uncle Sam). What people do not too well know—at least as well as basketball—is that my school is also outstanding in football, in music, in high scholastic requirements and in all other phases of school activities. Therefore, I have had the very best of opportunities that can be offered. Without them I could not have been here.

To successfully manage a public office, especially the affairs which are duties of the Secretary of State, the official needs, in addition to the qualities and abilities already mentioned, a high knowledge of political science. (Some call it politics).

Not only is my town of Hazard the basketball capital of Eastern Kentucky, it is also considered to be the political capital of our part of the state. Most candidates for state offices consider it advantageous to open their political campaigns in Hazard. Mr. Dowey Daniel of Hazard is Kentucky State Chairman of one of our major political parties.

We are taught political science. We hear our local, state and national political issues discussed almost daily. Thus, we are well acquainted with the affairs of state.

NOW, I believe you will agree that I possess the qualifications and know-how to make me a Secretary of State of which you will be proud. I ASK YOUR SUPPORT.

My slogan is: ONE WHO KNOWS—VOTE FOR ROSE. THANK YOU.

U.K. Head Coach Addresses Two Local Civic Clubs

Fred W. Luigart Jr.

"There is nothing wrong with football" at the University of Kentucky "that two things wouldn't cure," Coach Blanton Collier told two civic clubs in separate talks made here this week.

1. More football players; and
2. More maturity and experience for Kentucky griders." On prospects for the forthcoming season, Collier noted: "We're in trouble. We've got the toughest schedule in the S.E.C. (Southeastern Conference). We've got good football players, but not enough maturity and experience."

The U.K. coach spoke Tuesday night before the Kiwanis club and Wednesday at the Rotary Club. He was accompanied here by Bill Arnsperger, assistant coach. The two are appearing in Neon and Jenkins today.

Entering into the problems of building a top ranking squad at U.K., according to Collier, are:

1. the absence of a red-shirt policy at the school;
2. the youthful age of most U.K. players;
3. the absence of competitive football at the junior high school level in Kentucky; and
4. the fact that too few Kentucky high schools play football.

The U.K. coach said: "We need a red-shirt program like the rest of the S.E.C. but we can't have one because we don't have enough boys to play our schedule."

"The average size squad in the S.E.C.," Collier noted, "is 90 players; we had 72 out in the Spring."

Collier predicted it would take eight years or better to rebuild U.K.'s football fortunes, noting that the University never had a great team until Paul Bear Bryn produced the "Sugar Bowl" champions.

Collier said Kentucky has fewer high schools playing football than any other State in the South—citing this as another reason for the void in U.K.'s football program.

Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, he pointed out, have over 300 high schools playing football. Ohio has 500, Texas between 8-900.

He also noted that the entrance age in Kentucky for school age children is a full year under that of other states. "This means," he explained, "that Kentucky high school graduates are a younger than those in other States." As such, Collier noted, U.K.'s players are generally younger than those of opposing squads.

Of junior high football, Collier challenged the public to decide whether it is needed in Kentucky, pointing out that other States have well developed junior high programs.

Collier compared the development of a football player with that of a student.

"We don't expect them to learn mathematics in their final four years of schooling."

The U.K. coach heaped praise on Hazard's Bob Lindon, senior, and co-captain of the Wildcats for next year. Lindon, Collier noted, through agreement with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Lindon, was red-shirted in his sophomore year.

Collier noted that as a result he is now a more "mature and experienced" player.

Th U.K. coach asked the public not "to pressure college freshmen and sophomores" into making the first team. He noted:

"In the S.E.C. and Big 10," he said, "sophomores don't play." He explained they aren't mature enough and don't have the experience.

Don't miss IT!

Feminine Side Of 4-H Takes Tobacco Honors

The distaff side of 4-H Club work in the state took the honors in 1957 for tobacco project work, the state 4-H Club department here said this week.

Two girls were tops in the work. They are Nancy Chapman, 17, of Ohio county champion state; and Linda Lue Milby, 15, of Green county, second.

The boys' side of the program comes in third in the statewide work with Clyde A. Stratman, 15, of Campbell county.

Miss Chapman wins an expenses-paid trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November.

The young Ohio County girl, in 4-H work for seven years, raised a half acre of tobacco in her project. She averaged 2,796 pounds per acre and grossed $1,759 dollars per acre in the project. Her consignment averaged $62.91 a hundredweight when sold. She raised hurley 41-A variety.

Linda Lue raised a quarter-acre of Burley 35 variety, averaged 3,096 pounds per acre and $1,990.40 per acre gross. Her offerings averaged $64.29 a hundredweight.

Youth Stratman raised two-tenths of an acre of Burley 26; averaged 2,680 pounds an acre and grossed $1,735.95 per acre on his plot. He sold his offerings for $64.88 a hundredweight.

The top three persons were picked from district winners of 12 Extension Service districts in the state. All entries were judged on all phases of project work, including records, narration of project, poundage, gross profit, etc.

Other district winners (senior) were: Annetta Palmer, 16, Calloway county; Jerry Coppage, 17, Todd county; Paul Burd, 16, Hart county; John R. Boone, 14, Washington county; Norris W. Hollon, 14, Boyle county; Barbara Ann Reed, 16, Mason county; Lula Rowe, 18, Magoffin county; and Paul Crowe, 15, Estill county.

District Junior winners: Joseph E. Toon Jr., Graves county; William Clark, 13, Trigg county; William L. Crutcher, 13, Daviess county; James A. Matthews, 11, Barren county; William G. Dawson, 13, Bullitt county; Tom A. Caldwell, 12, Taylor county; Carl B. Monaghan, 13, Bracken county; Teddy Kuster, 13, Bourbon county; Terry O. Lytle, 12, Fleming county; George P. Salyers, Johnson county; and Paul Crowe, 15, Estill county.

LETTER FROM MRS. JOHN SHERMAN COOPER

Gardens Of Washington Are Lovely

After a long hard winter I know that we all share the excitement of getting out to work in our gardens. During Easter recess, John had promised to make a talk in Georgia and on the way back to Washington we took the opportunity to spend that weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Klitridge in their beautiful old house in Charleston, S. C. The Klitridges also own the Cypress Gardens on the Cooper River that are so amazing it is difficult for me to describe them to you. Happily, they are open to the public each season so that any one that is unsatisfied with my effort can and should include this garden in the Carolina garden pilgrimage.

Cypress Gardens were begun by Ben Klitridge's father around 1926, but the garden itself possesses the added charm of an antique setting. It is a water garden covering hundreds of acres, with vast black lagoons from whose surface arise an ancient forest of cypress and gum trees. The waters which they stand in were impounded long ago as bachelor or reserves for a rice plantation. Under the tall trees you glimpse Japanese-like bridges and you follow winding paths along the shore or explore the mysteries of this unique garden by boat. Pushing out from the shore you move through an enchanted world, dark waters underneath a canopy of gray moss above, and on every side a labyrinth of gray columns. Magic isles of azaleas, wisteria, camellias, draw paths of radiant reflections across the water and the air is filled with a perfume of Daphne blossoms. The winding edges of the shore are sprinkled with the brightness of thousands of daffodils.

T. T. traveler from New Zealand wrote, "If it had been done by a Maharajah in the 16th century, it would have come down the ages as a tradition of India but it might have been overdone by bricks, mortar and mineral—this is better."

After seeing so much beauty there I could hardly wait to get back to my own little flower garden. I had worked on this spring's planting very carefully as we had promised to show the garden to the Georgetown Garden Tour for the benefit of their Children's Home. I had planned the color scheme of blue, white and yellow—pansies, tulips, azaleas, rhododendrons, and reseeded the lawn with a mixture of Kentucky blue grass, bent, fescue

L'WOOD LOCALS

Young People Play Ball At L'wood

C. R. Mooney

Niner Cornett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Cornett, is now home with his parents. He has been working away at Hamilton, Ohio.

Kenneth and Christine Lundy is nearly settled in their new home.

Mr. Tom White is gradually recuperating from his illness. He is at his home now. We hope soon he is up and about again.

Monday evening Rev. Patterson took quite a number of young people from the Slomp community up to the Leatherwood gym for recreation. They reported a good time of ball playing.

I might add that enough seats are installed in the new gym to fill up each side. Every one on Leatherwood is looking forward to a real good basketball season this fall.

Many of the folk of Slomp often go fishing, usually around Norris Lake, Cumberland Lake and Kentucky Lake. They always bring home fish. Irvin Thorpe and Lindsey Chapman are two regular fishermen. This past weekend Irvin Thorpe and Bill Jones fished. Irvin must carry the rabbits foot. He was generous enough to let me sample them.

Our greatest sympathy is extended to Hizzie Campbell's family for the loss of their father this past Sunday evening, Apr. 27. They were bringing him home from the doctor at Blackey.

Willard Adams has had a back operation in a Lexington hospital and is reported to be doing fine. This back trouble was the result of a mine accident a few months ago.

Clear Creek To Hold Annual Alumni Meet

Pineville, Ky., April 25—The Alumni Association meeting of Clear Creek Baptist School, a Kentucky Baptist Bible Institute, will be held at the school April 29, beginning at 2:00 P.M., according to Reverend Fred Ponton, president of the association. Reverend Glenn Singleton, a Bible school graduate who will also receive his high school diploma from the school in May, will be in charge of the services. Reverend Jesse Buel, pastor of West Pineville Baptist Church, will bring the devotion.

A special musical number will be rendered by Reverend Carl Hunter, a former professor at the school and now pastor of First Baptist Church of Jellico, Tennessee. Reverend Aldridge, president of the Clear Creek School, will bring a message, and also show a film of persons connected with the school's history at the banquet to be held in Kelly Hall at 6:00 that evening.

Reverend Fred Ponton, president of the Alumni Association, is pastor of an Elizabethton, Tennessee, church. Other members of the program committee are Reverend Cecil Fultz, now a second-year college student, and Reverend Lewis Searcy, pastor of a rural church near Louisville.

SERMON OF WEEK

"CHRISTIANS ANONYMOUS"

Alcoholics Anonymous is an organization dedicated to the cure and rehabilitation of alcoholics. Similar organizations prefer to remain anonymous for the protection of the individuals involved.

There is a tremendous group of Christians who unknowingly belong to "Christians Anonymous." It is true they have no formal organization and they have not been aware of their joining, but by their actions, they have unwittingly become one of them. There is every reason to agree with the secular organizations that they must remain anonymous. However, the positiveness of Christianity just as forcibly demands that it must be given public demonstration and proclamation. Jesus said, "ye are my witnesses"; "ye are the light of the world"; "ye are the salt of the earth." He demands that we give the gospel to the whole world; yet what a small percentage of Christianity is carrying out the Saviour's command.

It seems we have developed an unconscious sense of "let-the-other-fellow-do-it." We desire the benefits of salvation but desire to remain anonymous when it comes to witnessing to others. Witnessing and testifying for Christ is more than mere lip-service. It demands a Christian demonstration in daily life whether in the home, factory, office or classroom.

There was a time when the little band whom Christ had commissioned as disciples found themselves belonging to this group.

Their leader had died and with His crucifixion their hopes had also faded, for they had expected Him to free them from Roman tyranny and set up a literal kingdom.

But let us let the beloved apostle tell it in his own words as recorded in John 20:19-29.

"Then the same day at evening, being the first day of the week, when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled for fear of the Jews, came Jesus and stood in the midst, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you. And when he had so said, he shewed unto them his hands and his side. Then were the disciples glad, when they saw the Lord. Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you. And when he had said this, he breathed on them, and saith unto them, Receive ye the Holy Ghost: whosever sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; and whosever sins ye retain, they are retained. But Thomas, one of the twelve, called Didymus, was not with them when Jesus came. The other disciples therefore said unto him, We have seen the Lord. But he said unto them, Except I shall see in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and thrust my hand into his side, I will not believe. And after eight days again his disciples were within, and Thomas with them: then came Jesus, the doors being shut, and stood in the midst, and said, Peace be unto you. Then saith he to Thomas, Reach hither thy finger, and behold my hands; and reach hither thy hand, and thrust it into my side: and be not faithless, but believing. And Thomas answered and said unto him, My Lord and my God. Jesus saith unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed: blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed."

This was the disciples' dark day, for faith had given way to fear and heartaches had crowded out hallelujahs. It is rather hard to believe as we study the larger lives and deaths of the disciples that at one time the following statement appeared in Scripture, "... when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled for fear of the Jews." Can you imagine the disciples trembling behind closed doors when just so recently the Master had clearly stated, "I will arise the third day"? Coupled with this positive promise were the personal accounts of women greeted at the empty tomb by an angel and the race between Peter and John to the empty tomb to confirm this report. Also, He had so graciously appeared to two disciples on the Emmaus Road.

There were several things that hindered the disciples and drove them behind closed doors. The very same basic reasons have many disciples behind closed doors today as far as public Christian life and testimony are concerned. These things have driven them to the awkward position of "Christians Anonymous." There are love and devotion in their hearts for Christ; yet something is keeping it pent up and the results are that many who need to see and share their devotion are deprived of this glorious privilege.

Today fear is the great robber of Christian testimony and Christian influence. We are surrounded with a world that is "fear-conscious." We are afraid of Communism, afraid of super weapons, afraid of crippling and body-ravaging diseases, afraid of loose talk and gossip, afraid to live, afraid to die, every conceivable fear is magnified and publicized.

Many well-meaning Christians have unconsciously allowed this condition to invade their spiritual lives. So get a good look at Calvary, it will bring Peace, And the Christian Anonymous from behind closed doors to bless the world.

Pastor of Maple Street Church of God.

Hindman Sailor Reenlists For Six

Butcher, Charles Lewis, FT2, USN son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Butcher of Hindman, and husband of the former Miss Vicy Patrick, Hindman, has reenlisted for another six years in the U. S. Navy.

A veteran of 13 years service, Butcher is now serving with the Norfolk Group, U.S. Atlantic Reserve Fleet.

Prior to his present assignment, Butcher served in the destroyer USS English and the destroyer tender USS Tidewater. During the ten years he served in USS English he saw service in the Pacific during both World War II and the Korean conflict and also made four tours with the mighty Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.
